Purpose of Role

To build and execute the foundational marketing engine of Alltech AV - creating a consistent, professional, and commercially powerful brand presence that drives visibility, supports sales, and positions Alltech for long-term growth. This role ensures Alltech goes to market with confidence, clarity, and content that reflects the quality of the work the business delivers.

2 Role Mission (EOS)

The mission of this role is to give Alltech AV a marketing engine that runs consistently, commercially, and professionally - transforming the business's project portfolio, capabilities, and brand into content and assets that attract clients, enable sales, and build long-term market presence. You execute the strategy; Elena directs it.

3 Core Accountabilities

(Outcome Based | Marketing & Growth Execution Scope)

1. Marketing Strategy Support & Execution

You help build it, then own executing it

- Participate in and document 3-month, 6-month, 12-month, 3-year, and 5-year marketing strategy sessions led by Elena
- Translate agreed strategy into a structured weekly and monthly execution calendar - with clear priorities, owners, and deadlines
- Build and maintain the master marketing calendar across all channels, campaigns, and content types
- Track progress against all marketing initiatives, surface blockers early, and report weekly to Elena
- Ensure momentum is maintained consistently - nothing waits for prompting
- Present strategy progress updates at EOS Level 10 meetings as part of the marketing scorecard

You ensure the marketing plan moves from document to reality - every week, without exception.

2. Content & Social Media Engine

Consistency over perfection

- Build, manage, and execute the content calendar across all agreed channels (LinkedIn, Instagram, and others determined in the Month 1 strategy session)
- Create and schedule posts - written copy, graphic assets, and video - maintaining a consistent brand voice and visual identity
- Develop and evolve Alltech's tone of voice and content formats: project showcases, behind-the-scenes, educational content, team spotlights, and thought leadership

3. Case Studies & Portfolio Development

High commercial value — not just 'marketing'

- Turn 5 years of Alltech's project portfolio into structured, compelling case studies using a standardised format: Client Brief / Challenge / Solution / Outcome / Visual
- Work with Project Managers, Seb, and Adam to extract the key details from each project - including challenges overcome, creative solutions, and measurable outcomes
- Build and maintain a central, searchable case study library - organised by industry, event type, scale, and technical complexity
- Develop the case study interview process and document it as an SOP

- Coordinate with the full team for content capture - photos and video from job sites, events, and the warehouse
- Establish and maintain the content capture workflow: how requests are made, what format is needed, and how content is stored and used
- Manage community engagement across all platforms - respond to comments, DMs, and interactions in a timely and on-brand manner
- Track weekly performance metrics (reach, impressions, engagement rate, follower growth) and report monthly to Elena with insights and recommendations
- Target: content calendar and processes systemised by 10 August; Oct + Nov calendars built and queued by end of August; posts going live from October

You build Alltech's always-on presence - consistent, professional, and commercially relevant.

that can be used for every project going forward

- Produce case studies in multiple output formats: website pages, downloadable PDFs, social media posts, and sales-ready one-pagers
- Target: 5 case studies published by 4 September; 5 more by end of September; 10 more (20 total) developed by November–December
- Prioritise the most visually impressive, technically sophisticated, and commercially relevant projects first

You convert Alltech's work history into its most powerful sales and marketing asset.

4. Website & Digital Presence

Own the digital storefront

- Conduct a full audit of the current website in Month 1: UX, navigation, messaging, mobile responsiveness, SEO baseline, conversion points, and competitor comparison
- Present audit findings and a redesign proposal to Elena by end of August - including proposed timeline, budget, resource requirements, and platform recommendation
- Lead the website redesign and restructure from September, following Elena's approval of the proposal - all structural and copy decisions require Elena's sign-off
- Manage all ongoing website content updates to ensure accuracy, brand alignment, and current project representation
- Build SEO foundations over time: keyword research, meta descriptions, page structure, internal linking
- Develop service-specific landing pages as the marketing strategy matures
- Track website analytics monthly - traffic, bounce rate, time-on-page, and

5. Sales Enablement & Marketing Assets

Where marketing becomes commercially valuable

- Scope the full sales enablement suite in Month 1 (July–August) - a prioritised plan of booklets, pitch decks, capability statements, and video content with audience, timeline, and format for each
- Create professional, on-brand service booklets - designed for print and digital, reviewed by Elena, and approved by Seb
- Develop pitch deck templates, capability statements, and client-facing presentation materials that Seb and the PMs can use independently
- Script, produce, and edit video content and podcasts for sales enablement (scoped in Phase 2; production begins Phase 3)
- Ensure all sales materials maintain consistent branding, messaging, and quality - one central asset library accessible to the whole team
- Support the development of pricing and package presentation materials in collaboration with Seb

conversions - and report to Elena with recommendations Target: website redesign live by 2027 (exact date to be confirmed in the August redesign proposal) You own Alltech's digital storefront - the first impression for every potential client.	Target: full suite scoped by July–August; first service booklet delivered by end of October; full suite complete by December You make Alltech's sales conversations more powerful - with materials that do the selling before Seb opens his mouth.
 6. Partnerships, Research & Growth Initiatives What makes this role exciting - Priority partnership: Women in AV Australia - research the organisation, its membership, events, and partnership opportunities; support Elena in preparing the outreach approach and relationship-building strategy - Conduct ongoing industry research: market trends, competitor analysis, client industry developments, and emerging opportunities in the AV and events sector - Lead HubSpot setup execution - essentials in July–August (pipeline, email templates, task setup for Seb, Junior PM, Admin, and Elena); full build including automations, sequences, and Rentman integration through September–November - Present research findings and growth opportunities to Elena monthly - not just raw data, but insights and recommendations - Support award submissions, PR opportunities, and industry recognition initiatives as they emerge - Assist Elena in preparing outreach materials and partnership proposals as the partnership strategy develops - Target: Women in AV outreach initiated by September; HubSpot fully operational by November You give Alltech's growth initiatives the research, tools, and execution they need to actually happen.	 7. SOP Creation & Marketing Documentation What allows you to quickly move towards management - Document every marketing process as an SOP as it is built - this is the marketing playbook Alltech has never had - Required SOPs: social media content process (brief → draft → approval → schedule → report), case study process, website update process, HubSpot data hygiene, content capture workflow - Store all SOPs in Google Drive-structured, searchable, and accessible to the team - Review and update SOPs quarterly as processes evolve - Target: all core SOPs documented by Month 3 (September) You don't just build the marketing function - you document it so it can outlast you and scale beyond yourself.

5 Cross-Functional Working Model

Area	Authority / Owner
Marketing vision & long-term strategy	Seb (Director) - ultimate brand authority
Marketing strategy - 3/6/12-month plans	Elena - leads with you; Seb signs off
Marketing execution - all day-to-day delivery	you - owns with Elena's directional oversight
All content before it goes live	Elena - final approval on everything published
Brand direction, tone of voice, platform strategy	Elena - with you's input; Seb consulted on major changes
HubSpot architecture and automation strategy	Elena - you executes
Case study framing and client representation	Elena reviews; you writes; Seb approves where client-sensitive
Sales asset content and positioning	Elena reviews; Seb approves key messaging
Website structural and copy decisions	Elena approves; you builds and maintains
Partnership strategy and relationship ownership	Elena (strategy); you (research and support)

Social media day-to-day scheduling and engagement	you - independent within agreed calendar
Research and industry analysis	you - presented to Elena monthly
All marketing questions or requests from Seb	Routed through Elena first - not directly to you
Financial authority (tools, agencies, external costs)	Seb - with Elena's recommendation

you functions as the marketing execution engine of the business, operating under Elena's strategic direction and in close collaboration with the full Alltech team to capture content, build assets, and represent the brand externally.

6 Decision-Making Authority

CAN:

- Create and schedule social media content within the agreed content calendar and brand guidelines
- Make day-to-day creative decisions on post format, design, and copy within established tone of voice
- Conduct research - what to look at, how to structure it, and how to present findings to Elena
- Execute HubSpot data entry, contact management, and workflow setup within the agreed architecture
- Coordinate directly with the Alltech team for content capture, project information, and case study inputs
- Manage the content calendar and task board in Teamwork independently
- Build, draft, and design marketing assets for review - nothing goes live or leaves the business without Elena's approval

NEEDS ELENA'S APPROVAL BEFORE ACTING:

Decision / Action	Approved By
All content before it is published or sent externally	Elena
Website copy changes, structural updates, or page launches	Elena
New asset formats or significant departures from brand guidelines	Elena
Any external communications on behalf of Alltech (partnerships, outreach, PR)	Elena
Case study framing or any representation of client work	Elena (Seb for client-sensitive matters)

HubSpot automation logic changes or pipeline restructuring	Elena
New tools, platforms, or software subscriptions	Elena (Seb for financial approval)
Sales asset final versions before distribution to Seb or clients	Elena + Seb
Partnership outreach or formal communications with Women in AV	Elena

CANNOT:

- Publish or distribute any content, asset, or communication without Elena's sign-off
- Respond to or engage with Seb's marketing requests directly - all Seb requests go through Elena first
- Commit Alltech to any external relationship, partnership, or financial obligation
- Make changes to the website's structure, platform, or hosting without Elena's approval
- Represent Alltech in any media, PR, or industry context without Elena's explicit authorisation

7 Success Profile

Success at Alltech AV in this role looks like:

- Alltech has a consistent, professional marketing presence - content going out regularly, without Seb or Elena needing to prompt or chase
- The case study library is alive and growing - Alltech's project portfolio is working as a sales tool
- The website reflects the quality of Alltech's actual work - not a 2021 version of the business
- Seb walks into client meetings with professional, well-designed materials that do the selling before he speaks
- HubSpot is the team's CRM of record - used daily by Seb and the PMs, with automations running in the background
- Marketing SOPs exist and are followed - the function doesn't depend on you being in the room
- Elena can step back from day-to-day marketing oversight - you is operating independently across all 6 pillars by Month 3
- Alltech is beginning to be known in its industry - Women in AV partnership initiated, brand presence growing

Core Competency Expectations

Competency	What it looks like at Alltech
Ownership & initiative	you don't wait. When something needs doing, you do it. When you see a gap, you flag it or fill it. Your deliverables don't require chasing.

Execution quality	Everything published under the Alltech name is professional, on-brand, and commercially sharp. No typos, no off-brand visuals, no vague copy.
Commercial thinking	you understand that marketing exists to support revenue. you connect what you are building to client acquisition, sales conversations, and business growth.
Communication (upward)	Elena always knows what's happening. You provide weekly updates, flag blockers early, and never let a problem fester in silence.
Attention to detail	Website accuracy, case study facts, social copy proofreading, brand consistency - you catch the details before they become problems.
Adaptability	The AV events industry is fast-moving. You pivot quickly when priorities shift and don't need stability to produce quality work.
AI-forward working style	you integrate AI tools (ChatGPT, Gemini, Veo) into your workflow to produce more, faster - without sacrificing quality. you bring new tools to Elena's attention proactively.
Cross-team collaboration	you build genuine working relationships with Adam, Josh, and Marley - because the best marketing content comes from the team, not just from a desk.
Strategic contribution	By Month 3, you are not just executing - you are contributing ideas, surfacing opportunities, and shaping the marketing direction alongside Elena.

Organisational Impact

- Alltech operates with a marketing engine that runs consistently - not in bursts when someone finds time for it
- The sales pipeline is supported by content, case studies, and assets that Seb can deploy in every client conversation
- Alltech's brand presence reflects the sophistication and quality of its actual capabilities
- Elena can focus on strategic operations and leadership - confident that marketing is owned, not just managed
- The business is building a reputation in the AV industry that will attract talent, clients, and partners over the long term
