Marketing & Growth Coordinator · Level ? · EOS-Aligned

90-Day Onboarding Plan

[Name] · Start: [Date]

Managed by Elena Melnykova - Director of Operations & Marketing

Purpose of This Plan

This is not a task checklist. It is a structured progression of responsibility, context, and ownership - designed to bring you from your first day to full, independent execution across all 6 marketing pillars.

Month 1 (Jul): Immerse & Audit · Month 2 (Aug): Build Foundations · Month 3 (Sep): Execute & Own

No live content posts until October - Month 1 and 2 are about building the foundations properly so everything that goes out is right from day one.

✓ Operational Outcomes

Content calendar live and posts queued. 10 case studies published. Website redesign proposal delivered. HubSpot essentials running. First sales asset delivered. All SOPs documented.

✓ Behavioural

Outcomes(Growth Tracker Level 4→5)

Own your work without supervision. Communicates proactively. Thinks commercially - not just creatively. Produces output that Seb is proud to put in front of clients.

✓ Strategic Outcomes

You understand Alltech's business, clients, market, and competitive landscape deeply enough that by Month 3 she is contributing ideas - not just executing instructions.

Goal: Build deep understanding of Alltech's brand, business, team, and current marketing state. No live content this month - audit and foundation only.

- Pull all historical performance data from every existing channel (LinkedIn, Instagram, Facebook, any others)
- Analyse: what content was posted, when, in what format, what performed, what didn't, what tone was used
- Competitive benchmark: review 3–5 direct competitors' social presence - what channels, what content, what engagement
- Platform recommendations: which channels should Alltech prioritise and why
- Output: Social Media Audit Report in Google Drive - presented to Elena end of Week 2, and used to inform the Month 1 strategy session

Website Audit - Due: End of Week 2

- Full UX review: navigation, site structure, mobile responsiveness, page load speed
- Content review: is the messaging accurate, current, and compelling? Does it reflect who Alltech is today?
- SEO baseline: current keyword visibility, meta data status, site health, and technical SEO gaps
- Conversion review: what is the site asking visitors to do? Is there a clear path to contact? Does it work?
- Competitor comparison: how does alltechav.com.au compare visually and editorially to 3 competitors?
- Output: Website Audit Report in Google Drive - presented to Elena end of Week 2

Brand & Asset Audit - Due: End of Week 2

- Review all existing brand assets: logos, colour palette, fonts, templates, printed materials, digital graphics
- Identify what exists, what's inconsistent, what's missing, and what needs to be rebuilt from scratch
- Review any past marketing materials - assess quality, brand alignment, and whether they're still usable
- Output: Brand Asset Inventory in Google Drive - simple table format, actionable

Weeks 2–3 - Marketing Strategy Session (14–18 July)

Marketing Strategy Session with Elena

- You document all decisions and build the agreed marketing plan in Google Drive
- Output: 3-month, 6-month, and 12-month marketing plan drafted - to be reviewed and signed off by Seb
- This session determines: which channels, what content types, what posting frequency targets, and what the priority output order is

MONTH 2: BUILD FOUNDATIONS

3 August – 29 August 2026 · 24 hrs/week

Goal: Build the systems, processes, and content foundations that everything else runs on.
Still no live posts - quality foundations before launch.

Content Process & Calendar - Foundation Built This Month

No posts go live in August. The entire month is about building the system so that when content does go live in October, it's already running properly.

Content Process Development - Due: 10 August

- Document the full social media content process as an SOP: brief → draft → design → copy → approval (Elena) → schedule → report

- Document the case study content process as an SOP: project identification → interview → draft → Elena review → design → publish
- Determine the tech stack: what tool manages the content calendar (Google Drive, HubSpot, or other - present recommendation to Elena)
- Map out dedicated hours per week for each content type at 24 hrs/week - ensure the workload is realistic and sustainable
- All process documents stored in Google Drive - structured, searchable, and accessible to Elena and Seb

Content Calendar - Due: End of August

- Build the master content calendar in the agreed tool - structured by channel, week, content type, and status
- October content calendar: fully built, content gathered, captions written, graphics designed or briefed, posts queued and ready
- November content calendar: same - fully ready before you move to execution in October
- All content in the October and November calendars requires Elena's review and approval before queuing
- Elena + Seb 10-minute monthly content review: first review in August/September for October's content - this is a recurring monthly meeting

Case Studies - 5 Completed and Ready to Publish

- Complete and format 5 case studies using the agreed template (developed in Month 1)
- All 5 reviewed by Elena before publication
- Schedule the 5 case studies to publish in September as part of the content calendar
- Build the PDF portfolio template - one master Canva or InDesign file that can be updated as cases are added
- Identify the next 5 case studies and begin extraction interviews - second batch ready to publish by end of September

HubSpot - Essentials Setup Begins

- Build the sales pipeline: deal stages configured for Seb, Junior PM, Admin, and Elena - each user can see and action their deals

- Task setup: how tasks are assigned, what the naming convention is, and how reminders work
- HubSpot essentials target: live and in basic use by end of August
- Full automation, sequences, and Rentman integration to follow in September–October

Website Redesign - Proposal Delivered

- Build the full redesign proposal document: recommended platform (if change needed), proposed site structure and page list, content hierarchy, UX approach, timeline, budget estimate, and any additional resource needs (e.g. web developer)

- Present to Elena (and Seb if needed) by end of August - approval needed before redesign work begins in September
- Begin copywriting for key pages in parallel (Home, About, Services, Contact) - so copy is ready when build begins
- All copy reviewed and approved by Elena before any building starts

Sales Enablement - First Booklet Underway

- Using the scoped list from Month 1, begin work on the first priority service booklet
- You write the copy; Elena reviews; Seb approves key positioning statements before design begins
- Design in Canva (or equivalent) - professional, on-brand, print-ready format
- Target: booklet in final review with Elena and Seb by end of Month 3 (September) / delivered by end of October

MONTH 3: EXECUTE & OWN

1 September – 30 September 2026 · 24 hrs/week

Goal: First case studies go live. HubSpot builds out. Website redesign begins. You demonstrates 75% independent operation.

Month 3 is the trust benchmark. By the end of September, Elena should be stepping back from day-to-day management and into pure strategic direction - confident that you have this.

- You prepare the review document - this is a formal EOS-style rocks and results review
- Output: updated 6-month plan with any adjustments needed based on Month 3 learnings

Core Benchmark: 75% Independence Across All 6 Pillars

Pillar	The Trust Question Elena Asks at End of Month 3
Content & Social	Are October and November content calendars fully built, approved, and queued - with posts ready to launch - without Elena having to prompt?
Case Studies	Are 10 case studies published? Is the interview and writing process running on its own - PMs know to brief you after significant jobs?
Website	Is the redesign underway following an approved proposal? Are you driving it forward, flagging blockers, and coming to Elena with decisions?
HubSpot	Are automations being built, team training underway, and Rentman integration scoped - with Elena informed but not doing any of it?
Sales Assets	Is the first service booklet in final review? Is the full suite production roadmap being followed month by month?
Research & Growth	Has Women in AV outreach been made? Are you surfacing research and growth opportunities proactively - not just completing assigned tasks?

Final Note

This onboarding is not about completing tasks - it is about you becoming the person who owns Alltech's marketing voice, builds its brand presence, and enables its sales engine. Success means: Alltech's marketing runs consistently, commercially, and confidently - with or without Elena's day-to-day involvement. The best marketing function is one that doesn't stop when Elena is in Thailand.
